

Tulane University Certificate Programs: Not All Are Eligible for Federal Student Aid

Below are the current graduate certificate programs for which Tulane University has NOT yet been approved by the U.S. of Education for participants to be considered eligible for federal student aid (Title IV Aid):

- Equity-Centered Education Leadership – NOT eligible
- Learning Experience Design – NOT eligible
- Special Education – NOT eligible
- Teaching English Language Learners – NOT eligible

Please note: although students may be enrolled solely in a certificate program that is currently NOT eligible for federal student aid consideration, those students may qualify for non-federal credit-based private alternative educational loans.

Below are the current certificate programs for which Tulane University HAS been approved by the U.S. of Education for participants to be considered eligible for federal student aid:

Post-Baccalaureate

Graphic Design
Interactive Design
Paralegal Studies

Graduate

Cyber Defense
Cyber Leadership
Cyber Technology Fundamentals
Data Science & Cloud
Economic Development
Emergency Management
Environmental Management & Resilience
Information Technology Strategic Planning
Intelligence
Nonprofit & Strategic Philanthropy Management
Open Source Intelligence
Security Management
Sport Administration
Sport Coaching
Sport Security
Sports Medicine
Technology Architecture

Professional

Accounting Fundamentals
Applied Business Studies
Digital Media & Marketing Communications
Human Resources
Public Relations
Small Business Development

Last updated 05/20/2024 Tulane Financial Aid Office and subject to correction